

Artist's Statement by Ann DuBois

It is easier for me to paint than to write about it and I would so much rather people would look at my paintings than read about them.

I have but one goal as a painter – that is to paint what I see, as I see it, in my own way. A goal that has continues to be a struggle to achieve. I see the world ,as we all do, as individuals but to beable to paint that vision is hard work. This desire is propelled by a need to connect and share with others.
